Dedication

To the men, women, and children of all races, faiths, and creeds who have presented themselves for treatment to the four Dental Schools of the University of Maryland in the past one hundred and twelve years, and have of their own volition been instrumental in the training of more than seven thousand six hundred and eighty dentists, this edition of the Mirror is humbly dedicated.

This faithful assemblage of patients enjoys the distinction of having aided the advancement of dental science, assisted the growth of dental education, and promoted the harmony of dentist-patient relations.

"The servant is worthy of his hire."

"There is no excellence without great labor."

"The recent dental graduate cannot do competent dental work in such volume as to produce large financial returns in his early years in practice."

"The patient can judge your attitudes, but he can't judge accurately your professional skills."

"No articulator ever made a good set of dentures; it is the man behind the articulator who does the job."

"Both parties to a contract must profit in order to ensure an ethical transaction."

"Intellectual honesty and moral courage are essential characteristics of the successful professional man."

"If selling in the dental office implies a profit motive, don't sell; if selling in the dental offices implies a service motive, it is entirely justifiable."

Silver Anniversary

THE MIRROR congratulates and extends the appreciation and gratitude of the students, faculty, and alumni to these members of the assisting staff who have served the School loyally for over twenty-five years.

CHARLES LEROY DEETS

Preparator

Born March 19, 1894, in Pennsylvania. Moved to Baltimore, Mt. Washington section, when quite young, and attended public and parochial schools. Mr. Deets began working at the University of Maryland Dental School in 1927. He had served the school on a part-time basis for a number of years prior to 1927. Leroy is a "preparator" in the Anatomy Department. Before coming to the Dental School, Leroy had worked in the pediatric laboratory at Johns Hopkins University, the chemical laboratory at the Baltimore Medical College, and the embalming laboratory at the College of Physicians and Surgeons. Leroy's hobbies are hunting, fishing, and horse racing. He is the father of five children, three girls and two boys. Leroy has nine grandchildren. He is a member of the Mt. Washington Rod and Gun Club.

JOSEPH F. KILLIAN

Laboratory Technician

Born January 14, 1908, in Sparrows Point, Maryland. Attended public schools in Baltimore. At fifteen years he left school and began working as a laboratory technician at the University of Maryland Dental School. His duties included all the technical work for the departments of Histology, Bacteriology, and Pathology. Mr. Killian now confines his work primarily to the Pathology Department. "Joe", as he is known to students and faculty alike, has perfected numerous techniques for histologic preparations. He spends his spare time collecting stamps and tropical fish. Bowling is his principal hobby. He is a member of a bowling league, and he hasn't missed a night of league competition in twenty years. Joe and his wife, Lola, have two daughters. He is a member of the Maryland Classified Employees Association.

In Memoriam

KARL FREDERICK GREMPLER

D.D.S., F.A.C.D.

Dr. Karl Frederick Grempler, a member of the faculty of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Dental School, University of Maryland since 1924, died in Baltimore, Maryland on February 25. Born in Baltimore on April 13, 1895, Dr. Grempler attended the public schools before entering Mount Vernon College. In 1917 he was called into the military service. After completing the course in X-ray technique at the Army Medical School in Washington, he was assigned to an Army hospital in France, where he served till the end of the war. The son of a well-known surgeon and the brother of a general medical practitioner, Dr. Grempler chose dentistry as his career, graduating from the University of Maryland School of Dentistry in 1924, cum laude. Receiving an appointment as a part-time Instructor in Operative Dentistry, he served his alma mater in that capacity till 1939. During later appointments he was full-time Assistant Professor in the Operative Department from 1941-1943; and Associate Professor from 1943-1947. From 1947 to 1949 because of a desire to lighten his teaching schedule, Dr. Grempler reverted to a part-time assignment, although maintaining his rank as Associate Professor. Beginning with the session of 1949 and continuing until shortly before his death he taught in the Department of Clinical Orthodontics as a part-time Instructor.

A modest but jovial man, Dr. Grempler was highly regarded by his associates and the hundreds of students whom he taught. The dentists of Maryland recognized him as a highly skillful technician in the field of Operative Dentistry. He appeared on many programs, local and sectional, as a demonstrator of operative techniques. His memberships included the Baltimore City Dental Society, the Maryland State Dental Association, the Gorgas Odontological Society, Psi Omega, Omicron Kappa Upsilon, and the American College of Dentists.

Pre-Carious Verse

A dentist whose surname was Moss,
Fell in love with the charming Miss Ross:
  But he held in abhorrence
  Her Christian name Florence,
So he called her his dear Dental Floss.

A wondrous faith-healer one day
Had to keep all his patients at bay,
  While he hid in his booth,
  With a riotous tooth,
Which his faith couldn't stop, strange to say.

A dentist who lives in Duluth
Has wedded a widow named Ruth,
  Who is so sentimental
  Concerning things dental
She calls her dear Second her Twoth!

A two-toothed old man of Arbroath
Gave vent to a terrible oath.
  When one tooth chanced to ache,
  By an awful mistake
The dentist extracted them both!

There was an old man of Tarentum
Who sat on his false teeth and bent 'em:
  When asked what he'd lost,
  And what they had cost,
He replied, "I don't know; I just rent 'em."

Telecast

The Mirror takes pride in pictorially recording the first telecast ever made of dental operations. Devised as an experimental approach to educational methods, only the future can reveal the values such an advance will make toward the training of undergraduate and postgraduate dentists.

On November 13 the School of Dentistry, in collaboration with the Baltimore City Dental Society, presented the first telecast ever made of dental operations. Transmitted on a closed circuit from a clinic at the School, the program was viewed by over 500 members of the Baltimore Society in Osler Hall of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty Building and by a large group of students assembled in a classroom at the School.

Below are presented ten of the forty faculty personalities of the BCDS. This section is designed so that the receipt of any four consecutive MIRRORS insures the student a coverage of all members of the dental faculty.

Class History

Like James FitzPatrick, from the taffrail of his good ship Traveltalk, the members of the class of '51 waved fond farewell to the nursey thinclads from the "sprawl and draw" floor of the bicuspid building, and only nympholeptic Padilla lingered to cry. The Senior year had begun!

With more sparkle, fizz, and pop than a two-gallon jug of Canada Dry, the ninety-five members of the Senior class took up where they had left off the Spring before—with Hojnaski making announcements, Patterson making excuses, Wolf making reflections, and Daub making girls.

Progress could be noted. After all, four years is a long time, and something should be shown for our labors. And something could: the summer encamped R.O.T.C. men could now equip an office, Ridinger made with the burnt matches and looked more like Dr. Biddix every day, Armstrong "Cross"-ed us at the Student Mixer, and 'Liz had an option on a Buick plus a chauffeur—she could drive, so they say.

The National, State, and City Dental Meetings were soon upon us, and the most popular article demonstrated was the operating stool. Wheel-wise Seniors were we, and the value of a place to park "it" was most apparent. Tandem specials for blonde hygienists were promised us for '53.

By mid-November the student lounge was alive with insurance vendors. Cries of, "I'm covered, I don't want to, I've got enough" filled the air, and "Webster" was called more different names than you could find in his unabridged volume.

The Mirror extends congratulations to Dr. Wilbur O. Ramsey upon his election to the Honorary Presidency of the Class of 1951. Dr. Ramsey graduated from the BCDS in 1943 (November) and now serves as Associate Professor in the department of Prosthetic Dentistry. Dr. Ramsey holds memberships in Gorgas and O. K. U.

Wilbur O. Ramsey, D.D.S.
Honorary Class President

The anti-vivisectionists kicked up their heels again. We tried hard to convince them that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure and that when there was no prevention, then the dog pound was the cure.

The Lombard cavalry joined the passing parade, but the motorcycle madmen made life unbearable on many a sunny day. The plutocrats of the class paid and paid, while the cops simply felt that everything was just "fine".

With as much consideration as a Hecht lot attendant, the Juniors started to push us from the clinic floor. The Freshmen were X-rayed, the Sophomores were water-sprayed, and the year rolled on and on.

Announcement day was the pip of them all, and a day forever to be remembered. The shaking of hands and the secretion of glands went on for hours and hours. The patient little wives, who had been waiting for years for this miracle, this hey-day, this millenium, backed off with pride, cocked their heads to the side, and immediately resigned their positions.

The cars were revved, the trains were smoking, and "so-longs" filled the damp Balto air. We entered like lambs, we left like lions: not a penny, not a worry, not a care.

At last our formal education is over. From now on we travel the road alone. We feel that our training has been the very best, and we are as eager as David to go forth and meet our Goliath. To those who have guided us and sent us on our way, words do not exist to express our gratitude. We realize the obligations we have accepted, and we solemnly swear to meet those obligations at every turn. The four points of the compass are about to receive us: the spirit of BCDS shall go forth with us; and we pledge never to let the sun sink below our collective horizons of sincerity, service, ethics, and integrity.

Class History

At last we were on the clinic floor! What a multitude of connotations these few words invoked; years of preparation, white gowns, three rubber dams—. There were a lot of facetious remarks about "Men in white", but our adopted blase attitude could not quite conceal the pride and satisfaction we felt.

Finis

Wednesday afternoons have produced a new game of musical chairs, "....., you are losing your chair!" The Mixer Dance has become the high spot of the social season; some of the freshmen are still mixed up. The cue for a stampede: "Diagnosis has an operative patient for a Junior." One of the most over-worked sentences in school: "This is going to cost you a little more than we first thought."

The year's experience brought us a more profound realization of the responsibilities of the dentist to the public. The terms health service, healing art, and public servant assumed a more personal meaning. We have achieved a greater understanding of the magnitude of our life work. Partially formed ideals are beginning to crystalize. The stimulus of this year's clinical experience has created in us an insatiable appetite for the knowledge and skill we must yet attain to reach the goal each has set for himself.

Class History

Last June a weary but hopeful band of freshmen folded penknives, cached wax and lighter fluid, and broke ranks for a well-earned respite from academic labors. Midsummer mail from the Dean's office finally ended the suspense. Having proved its ability to distinguish cusps from fissures and cells from artifacts, the class of '53 convened for the sophomore term with traditional standards of cockiness and confidence. Profound assurances from upperclassmen that everything eases up this year" abetted a stimulating feeling of mastery of Fate.

Apparently, the administration offered no such assurances for we were very abruptly brought back, a la Shay, to the normal state of confusion essential to the learning process. Courses (some of them teaching dentistry) and instructors had changed, but a familiar routine remained: "We are not trying to make bacteriologists out of you, but—." . . . "G. V. Black states:—." . . . "You boys just threw your teeth at the wax. Didn't you see the demonstration?" . . . "Maybe you can't see it, but it's there." . . . "You histologists in the class will find. . ." . . . "Your contact was good, but—are you from Connecticut?" . . . "Your patient was screaming while you made that preparation." . . . "For the benefit of you neuroanatomists—." But as time passed, worthy effort conquered. Impelled by either despair or inspiration, new talent sprang forth in many fields of endeavor, even that of fatherhood.

As the end of the year approaches, membership in our chosen profession draws nearer, and its demands and responsibilities become more challenging. Our confidence continues, bolstered by the acquisition of techniques; our determination increases and our cockiness is replaced by humble and critical self-appraisal. In anticipation of the clinic floor next fall, our hopes are for inspiration from the many who have preceded us, benevolence from those over us, and the courage of martyrs in those entrusted to our care. May we, in turn, be merciful.

Class History

On registration day the one hundred and eleven members of the class of '54 were so pleased to have progressed this far with their dental education, that they did not realize how much work was forthcoming if they planned to remain at the BCDS.

After one week of being targets for the Hahn, Vanden Bosche, and McCrea cannons, our views assumed serious proportions. Add to this Drs. Miller and Williamson, stir well, and you know the stew we were in. Every day our respect for the upperclassmen increased; they had endured all this.

Ours is a class with diverse backgrounds. Some of our group served during the past war, while many others were still in high school at that time. A large number of our group are married, and many of this group have taken on the responsibilities of parenthood. In spite of this diversification we all have a common underlying seriousness of purpose: to become members of the esteemed dental profession.

Each day our respect and admiration for the graduate dentist grows. With God's help we shall humbly endeavor to follow in his footsteps.

Gorgas Odontological Society, an honorary student dental organization, was founded in 1916 in honor of Dr. Ferdinand J. S. Gorgas, an illustrious alumnus of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery.

Dr. Gorgas received the degree of D. D. S. from the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in 1855 and an M. D. degree from the Medical Department of the University of Maryland in 1863. In 1865, he became dean of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, which office he held until 1882. From 1882 to 1911, he served the Dental Department of the University of Maryland as dean and as professor of Prosthetic Dentistry, Dental Medicine, and Oral Surgery. He died in Baltimore on April 8, 1914.

Requirements for entrance into the Society are quite stringent, and thus membership is restricted to a selected few. The members are selected from the Junior class on the basis of their scholastic ability, professional bearing, and character. Invitations are extended to not more than thirty per cent of the Junior class who meet the requirements. Full membership is not awarded until the senior year.

The society meets once a month at the school. Following a short business meeting, an interesting and informative program is held. These programs are open to non-members. Guest speakers, outstanding men in their fields, present informal talks. Motion pictures on various phases of dentistry are shown, and occasionally the members, themselves, present talks on papers they have written.

The Society holds two social affairs each year: a Christmas party and a spring dinner dance. At the dinner dance, the highlight of the year's activities, the new members receive their keys, and those who are to graduate in June receive an engraved certificate.

The Student Activities Council functions as a coordinating group between faculty and students. All school activities are under the auspices of this organization, thereby insuring a spacing of the affairs conducted by all organizations and classes.

Acting in an advisory capacity to the class officers, the Council controls the money spent by the Student Activities Fund on school dances and publications.

Each class has a representative on the Council who is appointed by the class president for a two-year term.

Although the Interfraternity Council was reorganized in its present form in February, 1944, early records indicate that it existed in 1924.

Two delegates from each fraternity comprise the body, and its primary aim is to coordinate interfraternity and fraternity-school relations. It controls the rushing and pledging of students, and generally supervises the conduct of the fraternities, having the authority to discipline violators of its regulations. It also gives consideration to specific fraternity problems brought before the Council by the members.

In addition, the Council sponsors an athletic program and an annual dance. Thus, it serves the best interests of the school and the fraternities.

Major John L. Campbell, Dental Corps
Professor of Military Science and Tactics
Master Sergeant Leo Hirsch, U. S. Army
Staff Sergeant Vern M. Hostbjor, U. S. Army
Instructors

Three years ago, September, 1948, a dental R.O.T.C. unit was organized at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, for the purpose of preparing dental students for reserve commissions in the Reserve Army Dental Corps. From a beginning quota of 38 members, the unit has expanded to now include 159 men attending active classes, 24 seniors who have completed training requirements, and 15 juniors who have only to attend the required summer encampment. The total of 253 men (including the seventeen senior students in the Army and Air Force Senior Dental Programs) represents 61 per cent of the student body, who have expressed in a very practical manner their responsibilities as potential professional men whose services will be highly acceptable to their country's pressing military needs.

Under the leadership of Major John L. Campbell, DC, USA, the Professor of Military Science and Tactics, the men receive one lecture a week on such topics as Military Preventative Medicine, Dental Equipment and Supplies, Army Regulations, Military Dental Research, Military Psychiatry, and Military Oral Surgery.

Major Campbell matriculated at Indiana University for his pre-dental studies, and later received his dental degree from the same University in 1939. He interned the following year at the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center, New York City. Major Campbell has spent the last ten years in the United States Army, serving thirty-one months in the Southwest Pacific Theatre of operations. He since has had assignments at the O'Reilly, Army and Navy, Oliver, and Hallaron General Hospitals. He completed the Advanced Course in Dentistry at the Army Medical Center in 1950.

Assisting Major Campbell are Master Sergeant Leo Hirsch and Staff Sergeant Vern M. Hostbjor. Now serving his ninth year in the Army, Sergeant Hirsch has been with the R.O.T.C. unit since its inception at B.C.D.S. Before entering the Army the Sergeant graduated from Long Island University, receiving a B.S. degree in physical education. While in college, he played varsity football and upon graduation furthered his athletic career by playing for the Chicago Bears' farm team, the Newark Bears. During the war, Sergeant Hirsch served as a First Lieutenant in the Air Corps as a physical conditioning officer, and later served in the Medical Service Corps as a physical reconditioning officer. Sergeant Hostbjor came to Baltimore in 1950 after spending one and a half years with the Army R.O.T.C. unit at College Park, Maryland.

Twelve seniors attended the summer camp in 1950. Six men went to Brooks Army General Hospital in Colorado, and six men went to San Antonio General Hospital in Texas. They were Barry, Cowe, Crowley, Cullen, Daub, Dickens, Donohue, Hawley, Moran, Ridinger, Swan, and Wilson. Last summer General Snyder, Commanding Officer, Dental Division, Research and Graduate School, Army Medical Center and Dental Clinic of Walter Reed Army Hospital, was greatly impressed with the men from the B.C.D.S. unit and lauded Lt. Col. Richardson for the outstanding training which the men in the R.O.T.C. unit had received.

The University of Maryland can well be proud of this group of young men who, realizing the responsibilities of their profession to their country, have indicated their willingness to serve in an emergency if necessary.

Senior Dental Program

The purpose of the Senior Dental Program is to provide active duty dental officers in the Army and Air Force during the period of acute shortage. This program permits selected senior dental students who enroll as seniors during the fiscal year of 1951 to be commissioned as second lieutenants, Medical Service Corps, U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Reserves. The men selected will be ordered to extended active duty at the school in which they are enrolled on full pay and allowances of their grade during their senior year. Upon graduating, these officers accept appointment as first lieutenants, Dental Corps Reserve, and serve on an active duty status with the Army or Air Force as Dental Corps officers for two years after graduation.

The Army enrolls 300 while the Air Force enrolls 150 eligible senior students currently attending dental schools throughout the country, approved by the Secretaries of the Army and Air Force. Students enrolled in ROTC are given preference in the Army program. There are fifteen seniors enrolled in the program; ten in the Air Force and five in the Army.

Those in the Air Force program are Thomas F Barry, Donald W. Cowe, Carl W. Dickens, Frederick L. Lester, Forest G. McDougal, Ralph McCue, William L. Ridinger, William J. Shealy, Kenneth L. Stewart, and Robert I. Swan.

Those in the Army program are Carl P. Brigada, John Clemson, James C. Clower, John H. Dearman, John Fidler, and William Nufer.

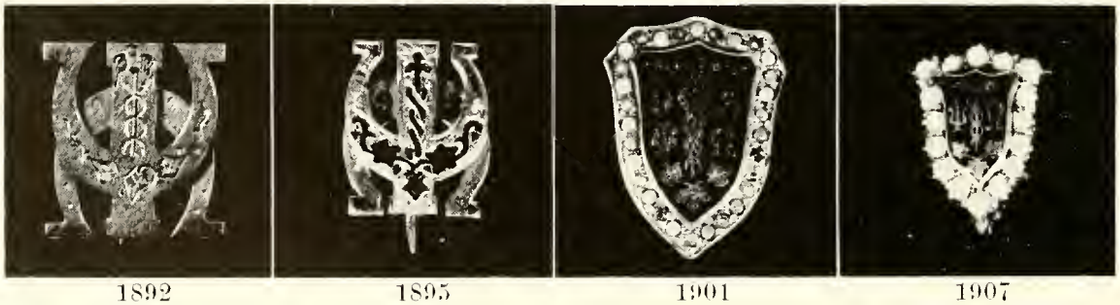
Pins of Psi Omega



1892 1895 1901 1907

1892

The original pin of Psi Omega was suggested by William Sprigg Hamilton in 1892. Inscribed on the pin were three fundamentals significant of the Fraternity: Numerals, designating the year of organization; Ivy Leaves, signifying fidelity to fraternal relationships; Caduceus, signifying the unselfish ideals of a health service.

1895

This pin was adopted by the first Grand Chapter of Psi Omega in 1895. The pin was smaller in size than the original, and had the characters engraved and filled with black enamel.

1901

The third pin was adopted by the Grand Chapter in 1901. This change authorized the adoption of a jeweled badge mounted with pearls and turquoises.

1907

In 1907 the Grand Chapter authorized a modification of the jeweled badge and adopted the badge which has been in use since that time. The jewels were changed from pearls and turquoises to opals. The size of the pin was reduced slightly.

Ancient Health Center Unearthed

Exclusive coverage of the excavations currently in progress on the planet Earth appear daily in the VENUTIAN EXPLORER. The scientists under the direction of Professor Crumbsy are working in the old coastal city of Baltimore.

P. H. GARDNER,
Foreign Correspondent

The recently uncovered area, originally a very swanky neighborhood, has been confirmed as the health center of these ancient people. Everything has been found except a parking lot; And it must be assumed that the city had a very efficient public transportation system.

Two of the best preserved structures were the "Dental School" and a place called "Chicks", probably an annex of the dental school, since the bodies of three dental students, Jack, Neal, and Eddie, were found slumped over the dispensing counter.

The dental school is a gracious stone building of classical roaring twenties design with traeings of Gothic arch embellishments. The symbol of the school hangs over the side door. The symbol is urn-shaped like the modern-day bedpan, but it appears coarse and very cold for this use.

The top floor was the sanctorium of "Big Mo", and it smelled of cigars and preserved specimens. The floor was covered with gentian violet spilled by some Pennsylvania character named Old Man, who is thought to have tried to poison himself by drinking the stuff. Also found were two dead rest-wandering cells belonging to "Doctor Mac" and a few fibers of migrating epithelial attachment that probably were seeking to entwine themselves about the glottis of Gottlieb, the dental agnostic.

The next lower floor contained the offices of "Doctor Eddy" and "Doctor Van." It is felt that they were not associated with upperclassmen since their lab was much more untidy than if occupied by Juniors or Seniors.

The third floor was occupied by meticulously white-robed scholars from the "Farmacy School".

The second floor evidently was a sort of theater or amusement hall judging by the movie screens and stages. These rooms were filled with uncomfortable one-armed desks. The skeleton of some barefoot hillbilly was found sleeping in chair 16. The rest of the room seemed to be dumbfounded by something; it has been assumed that a fellow named either "Nuper" or "Kumross" had just completed one of their profound questions. At the front of each room was a stage where the actors gave their performances.

Also on this floor was found the office of some darned Yankee; this is known to be correct because only a Yankee could have endured the ordeal of smoking one of the pipes that were found. It is said that the tobacco used was gathered from the sandy shores of tranquil old Buzzard's Bay.

The main floor contained many interesting specimens of life in that era. Interestingly enough, many of the skulls examined showed evidence of malocclusion —the type now called "Ungle's Class I".

One well-preserved skeleton was found seated in a chair, evidently having passed into paradise while waiting for an instructor to check off a Class II preparation. The instructor was later found but he didn't realize that chair was in his section. The skeleton of a patient was found with a queer rubber gag over his face. This evidence makes it seem plausible that the patient suffocated or drowned in his own saliva, since Willy was on vacation and no one knew how to fix the aspirator. Another student apparently had succumbed while trying to condense the gingivo-lingual of a Class III foil. In this same large room were one hundred chairs, each with a shiny round bowl. Several suggestions have been advanced for the possible use of these bowls, but the quantity is baffling. It is known, however, that urea was one of the popular dentifrices back in 1951, and this may have been a donor center.

Many queer instruments were found strewn in brown metal cases, and it is rumored, but not confirmed, that a few cases actually contained temporary stopping. It is believed that the old-time folk tune, "The Thing", was written about these brown cases.

Just off the main clinic was the Procrustean room or constabulatorium. On the desk was a paper with curious markings; evidently an attempt by these ancients at writing. The paper has been deciphered as follows: "I'm sorry for being late to class. I'm sorry for being late to class." (2,000 times). The twentieth century, you must remember, was a period of intense governmental efficiency, and everything was submitted in quadruplicate, and the above quoted paper must have been an extension to the extreme. Also found in this room was a black notebook with notes indicating the expertness and efficiency of the student operators. All names were listed except one character named "Knothead" who evidently approved of cement as a filling material for Class V's.

In a nearby room called "Benny's and Bob's" the bones of old "Bob" were found. He was standing in typical pose by the sink with a cigarette in one hand, demonstrating the long-cone technique.

In the downstairs part of the building was the reception room run by a fellow named "Happy Joe". He is known to have been fond of sweet, little, elderly ladies, and on occasion, probably palmed them off on unsuspecting students under the guise of "good foil patient—she's been with us for years." Swell patients, too, if you like to do DOBL foils on lower third molars!

Next to "Joe's Place" was "Nutgall's Emporium". The excavators say that if you listen closely you can still hear ancient gems of expression floating in the air.

Across the hall was another large clinic with about forty chairs, each equipped with a shiny bowl. These bowls differed from the ones in the upstairs section and were thought to have been used to pipe music to the clinic, since people of the twentieth century were avid Bop fans. Many trying hours were spent here by the students, because it has finally been proved that the instructors put something in the impression plaster to make air bubbles and wrinkles. Present-day prosthodontists have shown that the technique used in 1951 was purposely designed to facilitate the missing of centric.

The local Lincoln agency was also on this floor. The manager of the agency, "Standosh", is reported to have escaped by space ship to Mars just before Galus Erupticus buried Baltimore. When last heard from, Standosh was in the used car business, happy at last and at peace with the world.

The skeletons of most of the students were found at "Cliff's Palladium", where they evidently spent most of their time. A few beavers such as "No dinner Phil" and "Non-stop Tom" never went near the place. Leo Hirsch was found slumped in one corner reading the "Blue Jacket's Manual".

Some tramontane string bean bearing the dog tag, "Black Bart", had quite a few scholars cornered and was evidently sounding off on the trouble with everything in the world at that time.

The excavators have also unearthed the locker room, but the odd type locks are still baffling the experts. When the contents of these lockers have been studied, the full history of the old-world health center will be unfolded for us.

It must be noted that articles found elsewhere in North America indicate that the BCDS was the best dental school in the country. Therefore, we must be careful not to jump to conclusions regarding the reports being sent to us. It's still quite possible that the instructors and students were normal people.

Mirror Reflections

Mirrors are designed to produce reflections. The one in your hands is no exception.

When we gaze into a mirror, what do we expect to see? This can be one of life's most intriguing questions. The reflections we see in 1951 are familiar and spirited, and this MIRROR, it is hoped, has caught these lambent images. But it must be remembered, we can never lay our mirrors aside. "And above all, to thine own self be true." As the years roll on may our reflections remain brilliantly illuminated, and may no one of us be shackled by the chains of animadversion. Let us always lift our mirrors with pride, gazing straight forward into the eyes of honesty and unreproach. Only then, in the years to come, will the reflections of this MIRROR have significance.

To my classmates, the MIRROR advisers, and the professional staff, I am forever indebted. Without their untiring aid, efficient endeavors, and sacrifice of time, this book never could have become a reality.

It is my wish that all those men and women who were associated with this publication have derived the same enjoyment and satisfaction from the task that I have.

It was an honor to serve as Editor of the 1951 MIRROR, and I shall be always grateful for having received the opportunity.

After June- What?

WHERE shall I locate? What do I need? What about financing? You know all the questions by heart. But no text-book has ever been written to tell you the answers—because every year. for every man, the answers are different.

We believe that it's our responsibility to you to know these answers. We keep up-to-the-minute records of all conceivable statistical data of every possible location for a dental office in our territory.

We know what you'll need for equipment—we'll guide you in your selection for the maximum operating efficieney.

"After June . . . what lies ahead?" is not going to be easily solved for you. A thousand and one details must be settled to your complete satisfaction—and that's our responsibility to you—an assignment that we're happy to take over with just one objective . . . to assist you in realizing your ambition to be a successful practitioner of dentistry.

Dear Johnny,

Please express our sincerest congratulations to all the seniors just graduated and our thanks to the student body for their valuable support during the past year.

Don't fail to tell the graduates of the services that we are rendering to men faced with building a secure dental practice. Mention the fact that we know of locations in all the five states that we service and emphasize that we have our fingers on the pulse of the economic conditions of these territories. Above all, remind them of our PERSONALIZED OFFICE PLANNING DEPARTMENT, pointing out that planning is as important to the professional man as the compass is to the captain of a ship.

Remember, Johnny, it isn't the nuts and bolts that go into dental equipment that make the difference. The big difference lies in service that can't be bought or done without. We are waiting to serve your friends.

With best personal regards to all the faculty and staff.

Yours very truly,

The Deeley Dental Supply Co.

S. S. White Master Unit and Motor Chair are as modern as the present moment . . . will date your office with today and tomorrow . . . tell patients you are prepared and equipped to render the latest and best that dental science has to offer . . . make it easy for them to refer their friends.

CHOOSE "White"

and you choose right

It has been truthfully said that the productive work of dentistry is conducted at the chair . . . that every needless move during an operation adds to lost time and profitless effort.

S. S. White equipment was conceived, designed, and built upon this simple and obvious premise . . . its accessories are always convenient and under perfect control for efficient operating: for example . . . the warm and cold air syringes, mirror, lamps, cauteries, low voltage instruments, sprays, X-ray illuminator, Bunsen burner, connection for pulp tester, call button, etc. are on the accessory table or arm . . . making finger-tip convenience a fact . . . because they are always close to the field of operation, whether you are beside or in back of the chair, without needless reaching or stretching.

Operate an S. S. White Motor Chair . . . elevate and lower it . . . test its perfect balance, simple, easy adjustability and positive locking . . . learn why it is so easy to work with it and around it.

Sit in it . . . the form-fitting seat and backrest will hold and support you . . . make you relax instinctively . . . prove that S. S. White Chairs are the most comfortable ever built for the dental operating room.

teeth

Because the forms in Trubyte Bioform Teeth are exact copies of attractive, natural teeth, and because the new blends of Trubyte New Hue Shades are so alive in appearance, you can produce dentures that are decidedly better looking; much more natural in appearance. Your first denture with Trubyte Bioform Teeth will convince you that such a splendid result was never before possible.

The Result of Recent Biological Discoveries and of Important Developments in the Manufacture of Porcelain Teeth...

NEW IN EVERY WAY

- Exact copies of attractive natural teeth
- Each size a duplication of another set of natural anteriors
- Harmonize with the outline form of the face, profile and cheek planes
- "Vacuum fired porcelain"—denser, stronger and more "alive" in appearance
- New blends in Trubyte New Hue Shades —react to all lights as do natural teeth
- The shades are approximate reproductions of Trubyte New Hue Shades. There are slight variations in the shades of Trubyte Bioform Teeth as is characteristic of fine, natural teeth.
- New pin position—increases the retention of the tooth and adds to its strength
- The full formed linguals are comfortable to the tongue and aid phonetics

The Choice of Leading Dentists

You must look and act successful to become successful—quickly. And this is what a modern Ritter equipped office does. It immediately establishes you as a dental leader in the eyes of the only people who will put you in the higher income bracket—your patients.

The Ritter Company not only helps you to dental leadership with the world's finest equipment; Ritter offers you these valuable practice-building services—

1. The complete services of the Ritter Office Planning Department. We'll plan every detail of your layout including decorations, without cost.
2. The Ritter Statistical Service. We'll furnish data about any community in which you wish to practice.
3. Practice-Building Studies that tell you how you can make more money with proven facts, not theory.
4. The Ritter Deferred Investment Plan that allows you to start with the finest equipment—and pay out of earnings. Ask your Ritter Dealer.

Success starts with planning—now. We're ready to help. Please call on us.

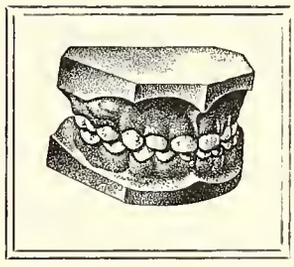
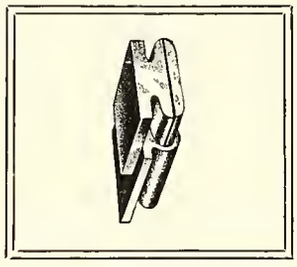
2 Outstanding Contributions To Dental Education and Practice



COLUMBIA DENTOFORMS

FROM a humble start 30 years ago Columbia Dentoforms have played an increasingly important role in dental education. Today every dental student in the United States and Canada "cuts" his first teeth on Dentoforms, for we supply Dentoforms to every dental college in the U. S. and Canada and to many in other lands.

In these 30 years there have been many improvements and additions to Dentoforms to meet the ever more exacting demands of teachers. Today Dentoforms number more than a thousand and present conditions the student will encounter in practice. And in graduate years, Dentoforms continue to help clinicians in postgraduate education and to help the busy practitioner in his endless task of patient-education by showing the better dentistry he seeks to give



BROWN ATTACHMENTS

BROWN Precision Attachments have been used successfully since 1920, when patents were granted to their inventor, Dr. I. Brown. This event followed by only a few years the impetus that Dr. Herman Chayes gave to the advance in removable restorations by the introduction of the precision type of attachment.

So simple, yet so effective and practical are the design and mechanical principles employed in Brown Attachments, that they have defied every effort to improve upon them for 30 years. Except for the addition, about 15 years ago, of the proximal contact type, to give the convenience of a built-in proximal contact, no change in design has been made. The sizes of the Brown Attachment made today are identical with those made 30 years ago—a comforting thought if replacement parts are required.
